Mr. Warder's New Residence

Mr. B. H. Warder, the Chicago million stre, has had plans made for the erection of a magnificent residence on K street, near Sixteenth street. The building will have a frontage of seventy-two feet on K street and will have an elaborate porte cocherc. It will be three stories in height, with a tower. The interior finishings will be of marble and hard wood and will be of the most elaborate and costly character. The estimated cost is $150,000. Richardson, the well-known architect of Beston, drew the plans, which is a guarantee that the edifice will be a credit to the neighborhood.

Given Another Chance.

"How many terms have you served it the penitentiary?" asked Justice MacArthur of Albert Davis in the Criminal Court

"Three," replied Davis; "seven years in all."

"How old are you?"

"Twenty-nine years."

"What assurance have we that if released you will behave yourself?"

"I have come to the conclusion that it does not pay to do wrong and have made up my mind to try and do right."

Justice MacArthur concluded to give him another chance. Davis pleaded guilty to the larceny of a quantity of old iron from the Government in June, 1884. Sentence was suspended and he was released on his personal recognizance. It seems that Davis was suspended and he was released on his personal recognizance. It seems that Davis landed in town a few weeks since from the Albany penitentiary, and the next day, while at Police Headquarters inquiring about his brother, was arrested on this charge for a crime committed before he went to Albany the last time.

Who is Jedge Waxem?

Society is much worked up over the dentity of Jedge Waxem. In the social circle many heated discussions have taken place, and in some instances there have place, and in some instances there have been bets on the question. Last night a young lady asked a Cattle reporter to tell her where Jedge Waxem was from. She said: "My sister and I have looked and relocked all through the Congressional Directory and have failed to find the name of Jedge Waxem. I don't believe there is any Jedge Waxem. I wish you would tell me wiere to find the Jedge, for then I'd win a pair of gloves." The young lady seen's to have forgotten that Jedge Waxem is the new Member from Wayback.

said, by some of the leading houses. The selling continued throughout the morning, and at noon prices had declined \(\frac{1}{2}\) to 1\(\frac{1}{2}\) percent. D., L. & W. was a noticeable exception, being strong throughout, and advancing \(\frac{12}{2}\) per cent. by midday, notwithstanding the weakness of the rest of the list. After 12 o'clock the whole market was firmer, and prices are now at the highest figures all around. Money was \(\frac{1}{2}\) per cent. Exchange quiet and firm: posted rates, 488(a490, Governments firm. Currency, \(\frac{1}{2}\), bid. The most important event in railway circles yesterday was the announcement that Chancellor Runyon had declared the lease of the New Jersey Central to the Reading vold at the old and almost forgotten suit of the Vail estate. It is expected an appeal will be taken to the Court of Errors and Appeals of New Jersey, and there may be an attempt to remove the case to the United States District Court, where practically the same matter is pending in the case on which Master Dallas has just reported. It is the general impression that legal proceedings will only delay the final and absolute divorce of the two companies. When this comes about the position of the Jersey Central will be entirely changed. The road will be free from Reading, and it will no doubt be placed in the hands of receivers and go through the process of reorganization, which has already been too long delayed. The coutrol of the new company will be vested in a new management, who may rescue it from its difficulties. The stock advanced yesterday either because the new parties already have control and desire to put the price above the point at which rivals would buy or because it was thought there will be a general scramble to get hold of the property. Under the decision of Chancellor Runyon the contract between the Reading, Jersey Central & Lebigh Navigation is annulled, and the latter company is now free and independent.
